Second Hour (and related) programs

Feb 1st Second hour: Joshua Soderlund will share his spiritual journey with us. He lived in Palestine for some time, has been on the forefront of activism here, sponsoring a family, soliciting donations, went on a hunger strike for awhile, and more. Joshua's presentation will help us develop more definite ideas on how our Meeting can deal with the genocide in Palestine.

Adult Religious Exploration (ARE) invites all to come share your spiritual journeys & helps & bumps along the way, as well as current concerns. These First Sunday events will resume on March 1st at 11:20 AM.

On 4th Sundays, the Worship and Ministry committee hosts participatory sessions with themes related to “Spiritual Deepenings” following Meeting for Worship, September-June. Our shared explorations help us get to know each other and ourselves better.

This month, Cooking oil/salad oil, masa harina, and hearty soups are most requested.

Potatoes are always welcome. Side dishes (rice dishes, mac'n cheese, hamburger or tuna helpers, etc.) and condiments are in low supply.

If you can't come to potluck, bring your donations to the meetinghouse ahead of time and put them in the box in the Fellowship room. Thank you!

Common Ground: How the Crisis of the Earth is Saving Us from our Illusion of Separation

by Eileen Flanagan

Reviewed by Nancy Ewald

A Quaker environmental activist and board member/campaign director of EQAT, Flanagan makes a compelling case that those who are powerful (corporations, government oligarchy) control us by the age-old tactic of divide and conquer. By exploiting our differences—racial, ethnic, economic status, age, gender, philosophy, or religion—they gain and keep power and wealth. And as long as we are distracted by the ILLUSION of our separation from each other and from the Earth, we are vulnerable. Only by realizing that we are, in fact, all human and all dependent on this planet for our lives, can we fight back successfully and regain the power we need to resist and to survive the crisis.

Weaving together stories from her travels around the world organizing and attending protest actions, Flanagan shows how pockets of resistance succeed when people recognize that they are part of a shared humanity and of the planet itself. The separateness that we think divides us is in fact an illusion, and the environmental crisis may be the only thing that will save us from that illusion.

Two local events for global nuclear disarmament this month:

Dr Vincent Intondi, Executive Director Of Oregon Physicians for Social Responsibility, will give a lecture on Sat. Feb. 7, at the nearby Episcopal Church, 333 NW 35th St.

On Sunday, Feb 8th, there will be a fundraiser at the Corvallis Museum, 411 SW 2nd St, from 2-4 pm. FMI: www.oregonpsr.org

Minutes of the Corvallis Friends Meeting for Business

1/11/2026

Attendance: Bob Burton (Clerk), Susan Easton, Nancy Ewald, Nina Joy Lawrence, Jay Thatcher, Laura Horsey, Wendy Robinson, Marybetts Sinclair, Bob Ward, Kathy Miller, Don Groom, John Selker (Recording Clerk), Loreen Olufson, Georg Stahl, Carmen Brummet, Esther Schiedel.

Reading followed by opening Silence:

Our Meeting Community as we Corvallis Friends structure it, in order for it to continue to thrive, depends on the labor of its members doing a variety of tasks and services. Being involved with these "jobs" helps us knit together with the other members of the community in love, and elevates our spiritual sharing. Sharing the burdens of the Meeting is an integral part of our spiritual life together. Our meeting community is needed by all of us regardless of our ages, in this individualistic society. We celebrate our community as a source of social support, as well as of spiritual strength, enhancing our ability to look out into a wider world. (Robert Burton January, 2026)

The minutes of the December meeting were approved.

Treasurer's report highlights: There were large end of year contributions. Paying off the van of James is a temporary entry until the title clears. The balance minus December donations (about $23,000) ends us with about $12,400 balance. This balance compares to $9-10,000 at the end of 2024, so we are in slightly greater reserves than last year. The report was accepted.

Hosting AFSC Teams - Report by Bob Ward. The AFSC group will meet with us January 24 at the Parks and recreation Corvallis Community Center (C3) facility at a cost of $140. Bob Ward is asking if the meeting would be willing to cover this cost. This was approved.

Hosting Quarterly Meeting on Saturday Feb 21 - we now have childcare for the meeting to be provided by Amalia. More complete details are found in the committee report.

Worship and Ministry report (attached and comprehensive). They ask the meeting not prompt people to ask about who needs to be held in the light at the end of meeting - these sharings are welcome, but will no longer be prompted. This suggestion was warmly welcomed and accepted.

Adult Religious Education - upcoming programs were presented related to the Palestinian situation with an objective of helping the meeting come to a vision for how to address the suffering.

Pastoral Care Committee - John Selker presented the role of the committee (attending to the physical and emotional care needed by people in the meeting) and invited people to bring their needs forward and to let them know that they may be called upon to serve on care committees.

Peace Justice and the Environment Nancy Ewald reported - announced the results of the food bank efforts (report attached).

A concern arising -Nina Joy - asked that people consider an action to support The Maids service that cleans our Meeting House. The largely Latina workers are full of fear of ICE in light of the fact that there have been local arrests, and the business has not yet engaged with available education programs like that provided by Lorena Reynolds' team. She proposes two or more people going to the offices of Maids to share the information we got in our training by Lorena, and our concern for the business and their workers. There was excellent discussion. The Meeting approved the creation of an ad hoc committee to undertake outreach to The Maids company to let them know their rights as a business, and how they can support their workers to learn about their rights as immigrants. Nina Joy, Marybetts Sinclair and Wendy Robinson agreed to serve on this committee.

Library Committee – Nancy Ewald reporting - Provision of the Faith and Practice book to the meeting. Who is given these books? Who decides when and to whom they are provided? The sense of the meeting was that this book should be freely available to all who might be interested in having a copy. John has ordered 10 copies to be put on the shelf to be distributed. Esther suggests that one or more copies be placed on the table in the worship room with a sign to welcome people to take a copy. Wendy suggests that at a minimum people should be given a copy when they ask to join the meeting. The Meeting decided that this book would be via “liberal distribution to all who might find it of service. Fresh copies will be purchased by the Meeting as needed by the Pastoral Care Committee.”

House and Hospitality – Marybetts Sinclair reporting - improving the kitchen function by building of a shelf unit to go on the wall above the counter at its north end, to hold teas, coffee, condiments, paper towels, etc., in the goal of increasing counter space by removing clutter from that end, making condiments more accessible, and making it easier to make hot drinks. She is awaiting an estimate for this shelf unit from carpenter Kit Kirksley who came and took measurements and will develop an estimate. John Selker, volunteer coordinator of major meeting house maintenance, asked to be engaged in this process.

Announcements: There will be a downtown Jan 20 protest against fascism; Kathy Miller asks if announcements of these kinds can be posted on the bulletin board, and this was welcomed.

Next Meeting for Business: 2/8/2026

Exclusive Film Screening: How to Poison a Planet

Presented by the College of Engineering and the Clean Water Technology Initiative

Thursday, Feb. 5, 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Whiteside Theater

361 SW Madison Ave, Corvallis, OR

Across the globe, access to clean water is threatened by population growth, climate change, industrial and agricultural pollution, and other pressures. Join us for an exclusive film screening of the award-winning documentary How to Poison a Planet, followed by a panel discussion with field experts and stakeholders.

This groundbreaking film examines the use and spread of PFAS and other fluorinated compounds — human-made "forever chemicals" that never break down and now contaminate waterways, farmland, and communities worldwide, including the drinking water of 200 million Americans.

With behind-the-scenes access to the largest litigation involving drinking water in American history, How to Poison a Planet investigates how the use of a product as seemingly harmless as firefighting foam, has resulted in the contamination of communities all over the world. Spanning from the heart of New York City to a small First Nations community in Australia, the film exposes one of the most widespread environmental disasters in human history.

Advices & Queries - Unity

Unity is found in God's will. If we are divided, when we listen in the Spirit together the way forward will become clear.

Each of us has particular transcendent experiences, and each must find ways to be true to them. When an expression of that experience is strange or disturbing, we try to sense where it comes from and how it might nourish the lives of others.

People understand the Divine in many different ways.

Listen patiently and seek the truth which other people's opinions may contain for you. Avoid using hurtful criticism or language chosen to provoke anger or fear.

Do not allow the strength of your convictions to betray you into making statements or allegations that are unfair or untrue.

Think it possible that you may be mistaken.

Cultivate affectionate regard and mutual care for each other.

Look for times and occasions in addition to meeting on first days to gather together affirming a common life that leads to a deeper unity.

- When problems and conflicts arise, how do we work to resolve them in a spirit of love and humility?
- How do we let go of our individual desires and let the Holy Spirit lead us to unity?
- How do we open ourselves to the diversity of culture, language, and expressions of faith in our yearly meeting and in the world community of Friends?
- How do we respect the reputations of others? Do we avoid gossip? Do we protect necessary confidentiality?
- How careful are we to avoid manipulating and exploiting one another?
